PUBLIC UTILITY HOLDING COMPANY ACT OF 1935

ITEM 1. DESCRIPTION OF PROPOSED TRANSACTION

1.1 Introduction and General Request

EIF Neptune, LLC ("EIF"), Starwood Energy Investors, L.L.C. ("Starwood") (together, the "Regular Members") and Atlantic Energy Partners LLC ("Atlantic") hereby request the Commission to issue an order declaring, pursuant to Section 20 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (the "1935 Act" or the "Act") and Section 5(e) of the Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"), 5 U.S.C. §554(e), that neither the Regular Members nor Atlantic (as defined below and collectively, the "Applicants") will become a holding company within the meaning of Section 2(a)(7) of the Act solely as a result of their proposed ownership of interests in a public-utility company, ("the Transaction") as described below.

1.2 Background

The Transaction involves the acquisition by the Applicants of non-managing member interests in Neptune Regional Transmission System, LLC ("Neptune LLC" or "Neptune"), a Delaware limited liability company. Neptune LLC is developing and will own and operate a 65-mile transmission line and associated interconnection facilities (the "Cable Project") that will extend from the First Energy Sayreville substation in New Jersey to the Long Island Power Authority ("LIPA") Newbridge Road substation in Long Island, New York. The Cable Project will use state-of-the-art high voltage undersea direct current ("HVDC") technology and will have a continuous transfer capacity of 660 megawatts. LIPA has entered into a Firm Transmission and Capacity Purchase Agreement ("FTCPA") with Neptune LLC pursuant to which LIPA is entitled to schedule and transmit electric energy over the Cable Project for a term of twenty years, at rates established in the FTCPA, commencing at the date of commercial operation, which is anticipated to be in the summer of 2007.

1.3 Description of the Parties

Neptune LLC is a limited liability company formed for the purpose of owning and operating the Cable Project. The Managing Member of Neptune LLC will be a to-be-formed limited liability company ("Newco"), which will have 100% of the voting rights of Neptune LLC. EIF and Starwood will invest in the Cable Project as regular members of Neptune LLC (the "Regular Members"). The Regular Members will hold 100% of the Class C Member Interests in Neptune.¹

The sole member of EIF is United States Power Fund, L.P. ("USPF"), a Delaware limited partnership, and EIF US Power, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company, is the general partner of USPF. Energy Investors Funds Group, LLC ("EIF LLC"), a Delaware limited liability company, is the sole member of EIF US Power, LLC. USPF is a private equity fund that makes investments in U.S. utility and power assets; it is managed by EIF LLC. The sole member of Starwood is an individual.

Atlantic, a Maine limited liability company, was originally the sole member of Neptune LLC. Atlantic will hold 100 percent of the Class B Member Interests in Neptune and will be the Class B Member. Cianbro Development Corporation, a subsidiary of the Cianbro Companies, is the managing member of Atlantic. The other members of Atlantic are CTSBM Investments LLC, an affiliate of the law firm of Curtis Thaxter Stevens Broder & Micoletau, LLC; ESAI Energy Ventures of Wakefield, Massachusetts, a market research and financial analysis firm; Standard Energy Development, Inc. of Halifax, Nova Scotia, an affiliate of William Alexander & Associates Ltd., a Canadian project development firm; and Boundless Energy LLC, an affiliate of Tompkins Research and Management Consulting, which provides consulting services to the energy industry.

Newco will hold 100 percent of the class A Member Interests in Neptune and will be the Class A Member.

1.4 Development of the Cable Project

On May 30, 2003, LIPA issued a request for proposals ("RFP") for additional power generation to serve its electric load. The RFP sought power from resources either located on Long Island or transmitted to Long Island from off-Island generation sources, and it specifically contemplated responses involving a new generating facility on Long Island, a new transmission line to Long Island that would accommodate the delivery of energy from new or existing generation located on the mainland, and selling electricity from a generating facility located on the mainland via a new or existing transmission line to Long Island. On September 2, 2003, Neptune submitted a response to the RFP, and on May 26, 2004, LIPA selected Neptune's proposal, after extensive review of fourteen proposals it received in response to the RFP. On September 29, 2004, the LIPA Board of Trustees authorized LIPA to enter into the FTCPA with Neptune LLC.

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") has approved the rate structure that Neptune LLC will use to charge for transmission services.² FERC required that operational control of the Cable Project be transferred to either the New York Independent System Operator or to the PJM Interconnection, L.L.C. ("PJM").

Neptune LLC will be an "electric corporation" under New York State utilities law (Public Service Law Section 2). The New Jersey Department of Public Utilities ("DPU") has indicated that Neptune LLC is not subject to the jurisdiction of the DPU. Development of the Cable Project will give LIPA and its customers access to lower-cost power available in the PJM region and will provide enough power for 600,000 homes in its service territory in an area where power supplies would otherwise be inadequate.

1.5 Structure of Neptune LLC

There are three classes of members of Neptune LLC. Class A Members (i.e., Newco) have one hundred percent of the voting rights; Class B Members (i.e., Atlantic) and Class C Members (i.e., EIF and Starwood) have no voting rights.³ The Class C Members are obligated to make capital contributions as specified by the Amended and Restated Limited Liability Company Agreement of Neptune Regional Transmission System, LLC (the "LLC Agreement").⁴ Class A and Class B members may, but are not required to make any contributions of capital or assets to Neptune. Newco is the "Manager" of Neptune, as that term is used in the Limited Liability Company Act of 1992 of the State of Delaware. The Manager is required to make distributions to the Members as specified in the LLC Agreement, in the amounts specified in the LLC Agreement, for the Initial Period, the Second Period, the Third Period, and the Final Period.

The total cost of the Cable Project is estimated to be approximately $625 million, of which approximately $125 million is expected to be equity provided by the Regular Members. Neptune LLC is currently in the process of structuring the debt financing for the Cable Project. Neptune LLC currently contemplates that the remainder of the total cost of the Cable Project will be financed by senior secured debt. Neptune may also raise subordinated debt and/or preferred equity, in which event the amount of equity provided by the Regular Members and/or the amount of the senior debt raised may be reduced to the extent of such subordinated debt and preferred equity.

When the Cable Project is completed and electric energy is first transmitted through it, Newco will become a holding company under the Act, and Neptune LLC will become an electric utility company that is a subsidiary company of Newco. Based on current projections concerning the revenues to be derived from operations within the State of New York, it is expected that Newco will qualify for an intrastate exemption under Section 3(a)(1) of the Act.

⁴ Although the LLC Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit A-1, has not yet been executed, the parties have agreed on the consent rights and termination provisions as reflected in Exhibit A-1, which are relevant to the issues which are the subject of this filing.

1.6 Responsibilities of the Manager

The LLC Agreement provides that responsibility for day-to-day management of Neptune is the responsibility of the Manager, Newco. As Manager, Newco will have authority, in its sole discretion and without the approval of the other members, but subject to the consent rights set forth in Section 1.7 below, to:

- open, maintain and close bank accounts and draw checks or other orders for the payment of monies;
- subject to the requirements of the Business Plan and the Annual Budget, develop and execute the capital expenditure priorities of Neptune in furtherance of Neptune's business;⁵
- establish financial reserves for the Neptune;
- expend the capital and revenues of Neptune in furtherance of Neptune's business, as described in Section 2.6 of the LLC Agreement, and pay, in accordance with the provisions of the LLC Agreement, all expenses, debts and obligations of Neptune to the extent that funds of Neptune are available therefore;
- make investments in Cash Equivalents, pending disbursement of Neptune funds in furtherance of Neptune's business, as described in Section 2.6 of the LLC Agreement, for Distributions or to provide a source from which to meet contingencies;
- enter into and terminate agreements and contracts with third parties in furtherance of Neptune's business, as described in Section 2.6 of the LLC Agreement, and institute, defend and settle litigation arising therefrom, and give receipts, releases and discharges with respect to all of the foregoing;
- maintain, at the expense of the Neptune, adequate records and accounts of all operations and expenditures and furnish any Member with the reports referred to in Section 9.2 of the LLC Agreement;
- adopt or modify risk management policies and insurance programs, including purchasing, at the expense of Neptune, liability, casualty, fire and other insurance and bonds to protect Neptune's properties, business, Members and employees;
- employ, at the expense of Neptune, consultants, accountants, attorneys, brokers, engineers, technical consultants, management consultants, appraisers, investment bankers, insurance advisers, escrow agents and other outside advisers (collectively, "Outside Advisers") as may reasonably be required for the purposes of Neptune and terminate such employment; provided that if any Affiliate of any Member is so employed, such employment shall be in accordance with Section 7.2, Section 7.3 and Section 7.4 of the LLC Agreement

⁵ Capitalized terms have the meaning given to them in the LLC Agreement.

- make or cause to be made all filings required by applicable law or regulation and undertake all other actions to comply with such laws and regulations;
- represent Neptune as a member of any regional transmission organization or energy industry association, and as a stakeholder with respect to any independent system operator;
- make any public announcements related to Neptune;
- to the extent set forth in Article IX of the LLC Agreement, manage the tax matters of Neptune;
- incur Debt, borrow funds and/or issue guarantees, in each case for the conduct of Neptune's business as described in Section 2.6 of the LLC Agreement, and make all elections and determinations under the Credit Facilities;
- undertake on behalf of any Subsidiary (either directly or through its vote as an Equity Security holder) any action that it is permitted to take on behalf of Neptune pursuant to Section 7.1 and not otherwise restricted by the LLC Agreement;
- appoint, and direct the actions of, officials and agents of Neptune and its Subsidiaries, and delegate to such officials and agents any authority conferred upon the Manager under the LLC Agreement; and
- execute and deliver any and all other agreements, documents and other instruments necessary or incidental to the conduct of the business of Neptune.

1.7 Regular Member Consent Rights

The LLC Agreement provides that the prior written approval of a majority of the owners of Class C Member Interests will be required for the following actions by the Manager:

1. The entering into of any transaction involving potential conflicts of interests between Neptune and Newco or any Affiliate of Newco (including employees, members and directors of Newco) or with any Member (or their respective Affiliates) or the payment by Neptune of any fees or other amounts to Newco (including employees, members and directors of Newco) or any Affiliate of Newco or to any Member or their respective Affiliates, or any material changes to any existing agreement for any such transactions.
2. After the commercial operation date of the Cable Project, adopting any Annual Budget or amendment thereto that is inconsistent with the business plan or the making of any expenditure exceeding the aggregate budgeted amount in the Annual Budget by an amount greater than the lesser of $500,000 per event or series of related events (but not otherwise cumulatively) and an amount equal to five percent (5%) of such budgeted amount except expenditures reasonably incurred in connection with emergencies or mandates of any Governmental Authority.

3. The entering into of any joint venture, partnership or other material operating alliance with any other Person.
4. The settlement of any claims, legal proceedings or arbitration on behalf of Neptune that would materially adversely affect Neptune or any of its members or require the payment of more than $500,000 in the aggregate, or which include requests for injunction, specific performance or equitable relief and involve matters having a value in excess of $500,000 in the aggregate.
5. After the commercial operation date of the Cable Project, the execution and delivery of any contracts or any amendments thereto that create or could reasonably be expected to create an obligation in an amount, whether payable at one time or in a series of payments, in excess of $500,000 other than in accordance with any then current annual budget;
6. Taking of any action that would give rise to a material default, or a right of acceleration of any material payment or termination, under any contracts that create or could reasonably be expected to create an obligation in an amount, whether payable at one time or in a series of payments, in excess of $500,000.
7. The entering into of any contract, agreement, arrangement or commitment to do or engage in any of the foregoing.

The unanimous prior written approval of the holders of Class C Member Interests will be required for the following actions:

8. Taking of any action that would give rise to a material default, or a right of acceleration of any material payment or termination, under the FTCPA or the Engineering, Procurement and Construction Contract ("EPC Contract");
9. Any amendments or modifications to the definitions of Final Period, Final Period Allocation Percentages, Initial Period, Initial Period Allocation Percentages, Second Period, Second Period Allocation Percentages, Third Period or Third Period Allocation Percentages, or to Section 5.3, 6.1 or 6.2 of the LLC Agreement;
10. The sale, issuance or redemption of Equity Securities that might affect the interest of, as relevant, any Class B Member Interests or Class C Member Interests;

11. Any action (or failure to act) by Newco, Neptune or any of Neptune's Subsidiaries that would result in any other member of Neptune or its Affiliates (other than Newco and Neptune and their Subsidiaries): (a) being subject to regulation as a "holding company" or a "subsidiary company" or an "affiliate" of a "holding company" or a "public-utility company" under PUHCA or (b) being subject to any other federal or state regulation that in the reasonable discretion of Newco or of any such Member of Neptune or any such Affiliate would have an adverse effect on such Member of Neptune or any such Affiliate;
12. Any tax elections of Neptune that would impair the treatment of Neptune or of Neptune Urban Renewal L.L.C. ("NUR"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Neptune, as a partnership or pass-through entity for tax purposes;
13. Any material loans made by Neptune or the provision of any material financial guarantees by Neptune;
14. Any amendments to the organizational documents of Neptune (included the LLC Agreement) or any Subsidiary of Neptune, so as to change the powers, preferences or rights of Members, or in a manner that would otherwise adversely affect the rights of Members;
15. The declaration, setting aside or payment of any dividend or other similar distribution (including a redemption or repurchase of capital) in respect of any class of Member Interests other than as provided in the LLC Agreement;
16. Any recapitalization, reorganization, reclassification, merger, consolidation, liquidation, dissolution or other winding up, spin-off, subdivision or other combination;
17. Any change in the principal nature of the business of Neptune or any of its Subsidiaries;
18. The entering into of any contract, agreement, arrangement or commitment to do or engage in any of the foregoing.

The following actions will require the approval of the "Super-Majority Class C Members," which is defined in the LLC Agreement as more than eighty percent of the Class C Member Interests of all Class C Members:

19. Any material amendments or material change orders to the FTCPA or the EPC Contract;
20. Any sale, lease, exchange, transfer or other disposition of material assets or businesses of the Project or Neptune or Neptune's subsidiaries

(including without limitation, the capital stock or membership interests of any Subsidiary) other than sales, leases, exchanges, transfers, or other dispositions in the ordinary course of business;

21. Any affirmative grants of security interests or other encumbrances in the material assets of the Project or Neptune;

22. After the commercial operation date of the Cable Project, any issuance of Debt by Neptune or NUR in the aggregate in excess of $10,000,000, or the purchase, cancellation, prepayment of, refinancing of, or other provision for, a complete or partial discharge in advance of a scheduled payment date with respect to, or waiver of any right under, any Debt in the aggregate amount described above of Neptune or its subsidiaries (whether for borrowed money or otherwise);

23. The filing of any application to obtain, or any material amendment to, a material Project Permit, or any material filing in connection with Neptune, NUR or the Project, or any material changes to the foregoing;

24. Any material tax elections by Neptune (other than those described in paragraph 12 above);

25. The purchase, lease or other acquisition by Neptune of any securities or assets of any other Person, except for acquisitions of products, supplies and equipment in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or acquisitions pursuant to the then current Annual Budget and the Business Plan;

26. Any effectuation of a public offering, private sale or other change of control of Neptune (other than financing activities otherwise approved in the LLC Agreement);

27. The commencement of any proceeding or filing of any petition seeking relief under Title 11 of the United States Code, as now constituted or hereafter amended, or any other federal or state bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership or similar law, the consenting to or acquiescing in the institution of, or failing to contest in a timely and appropriate manner, any such proceeding or filing; the applying for or consenting to the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian, sequestrator, conservator, or similar official; the filing of an answer admitting the material allegations of a petition filed against it in any such proceeding, the making of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, the admitting in writing of its inability, or the failure generally, to pay its debts as they become due, or the taking of any action for the purpose of effecting any of the foregoing;

28. The making of any material change in accounting practices, except to the extent required by law or GAAP, or voluntarily changing or termination of the appointment of Neptune's accountants as of the Effective Date;

29. The adoption, entering into or becoming bound by, or the amendment, modification or termination of, any (a) employment contract with the executive officers of Neptune, including any change in the compensation or terms of employment of such executive officers; or (b) any material employee benefit plan for employees of Neptune;

30. The entering into of any contract, agreement, arrangement or commitment to do or engage in any of the foregoing.

Finally, during the "Third Period" and the "Final Period," as defined in the LLC Agreement, the prior written approval of the Majority Class B Members will be required for Newco to take any of the actions described in paragraphs 9; 10; 11; 12; 14; 15; 16; 17; 23; 24; 26; or 28 above.

The LLC Agreement provides that the Manager may be removed by a Majority of the Class C Members, if the Manager (i) transfers its Class A Member Interest in violation of the LLC Agreement, (ii) fails to perform or otherwise is in breach of its material obligations under the LLC Agreement, or (iii) has made a "Controllable Management Decision" that in the reasonable judgment of a Majority of Class C Members has resulted in a "Material Earnings Failure." A "Controllable Management Decision" is an action or omission by the Manager, but excludes the effects on Neptune's financial results due to changes in laws or unforeseeable market conditions or due to the actions of regulators, provided the Manager has not failed to manage Neptune's relations with regulators in accordance with Good Industry Practice. A "Material Earnings Failure" is the failure of Neptune to achieve the cumulative earnings before income taxes, depreciation and amortization contemplated in the Business Plan and Annual Budget by two percent or more for any calendar year ending after the commercial operation date of the Cable Project, with exceptions for specified causes.

In addition, the Manager may be removed if Neptune has the right to terminate the Management Services Agreement to be entered into by and between Newco and Neptune (the "Management Services Agreement"). A right of termination under the Management Services Agreement arises if (i) Newco commits a material breach of that agreement, (ii) the sole member of Newco (the "Executive") fails to discharge his duties in accordance with Good Industry Practice, takes an action that materially adversely affects his reputation in the business community, or voluntarily resigns, (iii) until the second anniversary of the commercial operation date, the Executive fails to devote substantially all of his business time to the affairs of Neptune, and after that date, fails to devote a reasonable portion of his time to the affairs of Neptune, (iv) the Executive ceases to be the sole member of Newco and to manage Neptune in that capacity, (v) the Executive is guilty of gross misconduct or dishonesty in connection with his employment by the Manager, has chronic alcoholism or drug addition, or is convicted of, admits or pleads nolo contendere to a felony, or (vi) Newco files a petition in bankruptcy, commences or is placed in a process of complete liquidation, or suffers the appointment of a receiver for any substantial portion of its business who is not discharged within ninety days after his appointment.

ITEM 2. FEES, COMMISSIONS AND EXPENSES

The amount of fees, commission and expenses paid or incurred, or to be paid or incurred by the Applicants in connection with the preparation and filing of this Application will be filed by amendment.

ITEM 3. APPLICABLE STATUTORY PROVISIONS

Applicants consider Sections 2(a)(7), 2(a)(17), and 20 of the Act and Section 5(e) of the Administrative Procedure Act to be applicable to their request. To the extent that the relief sought in this Application is considered by the Commission to require authorization, exemption or approval under any section of the Act or the rules and regulations other than those set forth above, request for such authorization, exemption, or approval is hereby made.

3.1 The Regular Member Interests are Not Voting Securities

A "voting security" is defined in Section 2(a)(17) of the Act as "any security presently entitling the owner or holder thereof to vote in the direction or management of the affairs of a company." The Commission staff (the "Staff") has issued a number of no-action letters supporting the conclusion that the consent rights associated with the Regular Members' and Atlantic's interests in Neptune do not cause those interests to be considered "voting securities" under the Act.⁶ See, e.g., Evercore METC Investments Inc., et al. (November 25, 2003); General Electric Capital Corp., (April 26, 2002) ("GE Capital"); k1 Ventures. et al., (July 28, 2003); SW Acquisition L.P. (April 12, 2000); Berkshire Hathaway Inc. (March 10, 2000); Torchmark Corp. (January 19, 1996); Commonwealth Atlantic L.P. (November 30, 1991); Nevada Sun-Peak L.P. (May 14, 1991) ("Nevada Sun-Peak"); and John Hancock Mutual Life Ins. Company (July 23, 1986). In this series of no-action letters, the Staff has identified numerous types of consent rights that do not cause the holder of such rights to be deemed to have a vote in the direction or management of the underlying holding company or utility. The Staff has recognized that these consent rights are intended to protect the investment of the limited partners or preferred shareholders, similar to the rights granted to debt holders by means of negative covenants in debt instruments. Although the no-action letters do not bind the Commission, Applicants believe that the reasoning in these letters is persuasive and consistent with the policies and provisions of the Act. While the no-action letters are neither agency rulemaking nor adjudication, they do represent reasoned attempts to interpret the law and are entitled to deference in that regard.

⁶ In Evercore, the applicant noted that the limited partnership that was the subject of its no-action letter request might be converted into a limited liability company, and stated that the applicant expected that as long as the consent rights of any non-managing members are less extensive or equivalent to the consent rights held by the limited partners, they could continue to rely on the Staff's response to the no-action request. The Staff's letter did not raise objections to this statement, and accordingly this application, which similarly addresses non-managing member interests of a limited liability company, treats the consent rights as equivalent to those of limited partners, for purpose of the analysis. We note that this approach was taken in k1 Ventures without objection by the Staff.

The consent rights held by the Regular Members and Atlantic here compare favorably with the rights which the Staff has considered in recent no-action letters. For example in SW Acquisition the Staff determined not to recommend enforcement action in respect of the position that limited partners holding 99.9% of the total equity of the partnership (with the largest limited partner owning a 24.38% interest) would not be deemed to hold voting securities in the partnership (and thus would not be deemed a holding company or an affiliate of the electric utility that was owned by such partnership), taking into account the consent rights granted to its limited partners. In that case, the limited partners were granted consent rights concerning: (i) distributions under the partnership agreement, (ii) a public offering of the securities of the partnership or its subsidiaries, (iii) changes in the aggregate of greater than 15% to the business plan and annual operating budget, (iv) contracts for goods and services, or the incurrence of indebtedness, in excess of $1 million, except in accordance with the current business plan and annual budget, (v) mergers, joint ventures, partnerships and similar transactions, (vi) capital expenditures that vary from the current budget by $5 million or more, (vii) material changes in accounting practices or a change of the partnership's accountant, (viii) initiating certain actions or suits in excess of $1 million, and (ix) adopting material employee benefits plans or employment agreements. This list of consent rights in SW Acquisition expanded upon the consent rights described in prior no-action letter requests and provided the limited partners with significant protections from adverse actions by the partnership with respect to financial matters, extraordinary corporation transactions and events, as well as potential conflicts with the general partner.

Subsequently, in GE Capital, the Staff concurred with the opinion that the limited partnership interests described in that request did not constitute "voting securities" based on factual circumstances similar to those set forth in this letter. In GE Capital, the single limited partner held 99.82% of the equity of the partnership, and the limited partner was granted consent rights with respect to a broad array of events.⁷ The consent rights held by the Regular Members

⁷ The limited partner in GE Capital held consent rights with respect to each of the following events: (i) any reorganization, merger, consolidation, liquidation, dissolution or similar transaction (provided that the foregoing could be accomplished by the general partner so long as a threshold return on investment was achieved for the limited partner, such transaction being a "Qualified Event"), (ii) any distribution by a subsidiary of the Partnership, (iii) the sale, issuance or redemption of equity securities that might affect the Limited Partner's interest in the Partnership, except upon the occurrence of a Qualified Event, (iv) the voluntary incurrence of indebtedness in excess of $10,000,000, or the prepayment or waiver of any indebtedness, (v) any agreement for goods or services in excess of $2,000,000 other than in accordance with any then current annual operating or capital budget and business plan, (vi) capital expenditures greater than $2,000,000 per event or series of related events (but not otherwise cumulatively) more than the amount contemplated by the then current annual operating or capital budget, (vii) the purchase, lease or other acquisition of any securities or assets, except in the ordinary course of business or pursuant to the then current annual operating or capital budget and business plan, (viii) the disposition of 25% or more of the fair market value of the [holding company's or operating company's] assets or businesses, (ix) the entering into of any joint venture, partnership or other material operating alliance with any other person, (x) the making of any material change in accounting practices, (xi) the commencement of any bankruptcy proceeding, (xii) any employment contract with an executive officer or any employee stock option plan or any other material employee benefit plan, (xiii) the changing of the principal line of business of the [holding company or operating company], and Atlantic in the instant case closely match the consent rights granted to the limited partner in GE Capital.

Also recently, in k1 Ventures, the Staff concurred with the opinion that the non-managing membership interests described in that request did not constitute "voting securities" based on factual circumstances again similar to those set forth in this letter. In k1 Ventures, the single non-managing member held 99.9% of the membership interests of the limited liability company and held consent rights concerning a wide variety of events.⁸ The consent rights

(xiv) the adoption of any change in an annual operating or capital budget of more than 15% or the adoption of any annual operating or capital budget that is inconsistent with the business plan, (xv) the exercising of its right to vote the equity interests of any subsidiary of the Partnership in extraordinary circumstances, (xvi) the effectuation of a public offering or private sale or other change of control, (xvii) any transaction involving conflicts of interest between the Partnership and the General Partner, (xviii) the amendment of the Partnership's or the General Partner's organizational documents adversely affecting the Limited Partner, (xix) actions regarding material governmental permit or approval rate proceeding, (xx) the settlement or compromise of any action that would materially adversely affect the Partnership or require the payment of more than $2,000,000, (xxi) any action (or failure to act) resulting in the Limited Partner being subject to regulation as a "holding company" or a "subsidiary company" or an "affiliate" of a "holding company" or a "public-utility company" under the 1935 Act, (xxii) the entering into of any contract, agreement, arrangement or commitment to do or engage in any of the foregoing.

associated with the interests of the Regular Members and Atlantic in this matter also closely match the consent rights granted to the non-managing member in k1 Ventures.

Most recently, in Evercore, the Staff agreed not to recommend any enforcement action under Section 2(a)(7) of the Act against limited partners as a result of certain consent rights associated with the limited partners' interest in the partnership. As demonstrated by the chart attached as Attachment II, the proposed consent rights in this matter compare favorably with those considered in these no-action letters.

Furthermore, on several occasions the Staff has issued no-action letters in response to requests by limited partners with significant consent rights, irrespective of the fact that the consent of a single limited partner (as opposed to a group of unrelated partners) was necessary to approve the applicable events covered by such consent rights. See, e.g., k1-Ventures (consent of single limited partner); General Electric Capital Corporation (consent of single limited partner); Nevada-Sun Peak (consent of single limited partner required for extensive list of "major business decisions"); Dominion Resources, Inc. (Jan. 21, 1988) (consent of single limited partner required for specified "major events"); accord, Berkshire Hathaway, Inc. (March 10, 2000) (consent of corporation holding preferred shares required for specified actions). The requirement for consent of a single limited partner is similar, for purposes of this analysis, to the requirement for unanimous approval of the Regular Members for certain actions in this application, since both provisions permit a single investor to block the actions set forth in the limited partnership or limited liability company agreement.

For these reasons, the Commission should find that the consent rights granted to the Regular Members, who are the holders of the Class C Interests, will not cause the Class C Interests to be deemed to be "voting securities" within the meaning of the Act, and thus will not cause a Regular Member to be a holding company within the meaning of Section 2(a)(7)(A). Similarly, the Commission should find that no Class B Member will become a holding company within the meaning of Section 2(a)(7)(A) if the aforementioned identified internal rates of return of the Class C Members are met.

3.2 The Regular Members Will Not Exercise Such a Controlling Influence Over Neptune that Regulation Would be Required Under the Act

Under Section 2(a)(7)(B) of the Act, the owner of less than 10% of the voting securities of a holding company or a public-utility company is not presumed to control such holding company or public-utility company unless the Commission determines, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that such owner exercises such a controlling influence over the holding company or public-utility company in question that the Commission finds it necessary or appropriate to regulate the owner as a holding company under the Act.

Here, the Commission should find that the structure and terms of the Regular Members' investment in Neptune demonstrate that the Regular Members will not have such controlling influence over the management or policies of Neptune that regulation under the Act is required. In reaching this conclusion the Commission should rely on the similarities of the facts here to those in prior no-action letter requests granted by the Staff; and in particular the Evercore, k1 Ventures and GE Capital. As demonstrated by Attachment II, virtually all of the consent rights that the Regular Members will hold in Neptune are identical to, not materially different from, and in some cases, more limited than the consent rights that have been approved in prior no-action letters. For example, the non-managing member in k1 Ventures has consent rights with respect to the offering of debt securities or other voluntary incurrence of indebtedness in excess of $300,000. Here, the consent rights of the Super-Majority Class C Members in similar circumstances are triggered only by the issuance of indebtedness in excess of $10 million. The k1 Ventures non-managing member also has consent rights with respect to the entry into contracts for goods and services in excess of $300,000, other than those in accordance with the annual business plan and operating budget. Here, the Regular Members' consent rights in similar circumstances will only be triggered by transactions in excess of $500,000.

Most of the Regular Members' consent rights are identical or nearly identical to rights that previously have been accepted in other no-action letters. With respect to approval of loans, in k1 Ventures, approval of the non-managing member was required for "any" loan, other than normal trade credit or otherwise in the normal course of business. Here, Regular Member approval is required only for "material" loans or financial guarantees by Neptune.⁹

In the instant case, the LLC Agreement provides that consent of the Regular Members is required prior to Neptune's taking any action that would result in a material default or a right of acceleration of any material payment or termination under any contract that creates or could reasonably be expected to create an obligation in excess of $500,000. This provision is the complement to the above-cited requirement for consent for the execution of contracts or contract amendments that create or reasonably could create an obligation in excess of $500,000 except in accordance with the approved budget. Under the LLC Agreement, a contract of this amount could only be entered into if it is consistent with the approved budget or if it has been approved by the Regular Members; hence committing a material default or otherwise adversely affecting such a contract, absent Regular Member consent, could amount to an action inconsistent with the approved budget and thus threaten the financial integrity of the investment by the Regular Members.

Also, the consent of a Super-Majority of the Class C Members is required for any "material amendment or material change orders" to FTCPA and the EPC Contract with Siemens Power Transmission and Distribution, Inc. and Pirelli Power Cables and Systems LLC. The consent of a majority of the Class C Members is also required for the taking of any action that would result in a material default or a right of acceleration of any material payment, or termination, under either of these contracts; and the consent of a Super-Majority of the Class C

Members is required for the granting of security interests or other encumbrances on the material assets of the Project or Neptune.

In contrast to the circumstances in k1 Ventures, GE Capital and Evercore, here the only utility asset that Neptune will own is the Cable Project, a to-be-constructed transmission line, and the only revenues that Neptune will receive are payments under the FTCPA and "backhaul" sales from Long Island to New Jersey. In contrast, the above-cited cases involved the acquisitions of existing utility systems, which were already constructed and which did not depend on a single contract for all of their revenue. The right to approve changes in the contracts that govern the construction of this sole asset under the EPC Contract, (and which will be substantially completed by commercial operation), and that determine the sole revenue stream, and the right to prevent inappropriate defaults of these contracts are necessary to protect the Regular Members' investment in Neptune and do not constitute involvement in the day-to-day management of Neptune.

The circumstances are comparable to those in Nevada Sun-Peak, which also involved ownership of a single asset public-utility company, where a single generating plant was the sole asset of the company and was the source of all of its revenue. In that case, limited partner approval was required to amend any material provision of any "Project Agreement", which included the limited partnership agreement, the power sale agreement, an O & M agreement, an EPC Contract, leasing contracts and a project finance credit facility. There, as in the instant case, material amendment of the contracts underlying the public-utility company's sole utility asset could undermine the basis for investment, and accordingly protection of that investment justified the requirement for approval by the limited partner of changes to these key contracts.

This same rationale applies to the granting of security interests in Neptune's assets, which will be comprised solely of the Cable Project. Granting security interests in this asset poses the risk of foreclosure on the asset in which the Regular Members' investment is made, and protection of their investment requires that their approval be obtained for such an action.

The requirement for Regular Member consent for amendments or modifications to the allocation percentages in the LLC Agreement is also similar to the requirement for limited partner approval for changes to the limited partnership agreement in Nevada Sun-Peak. In both cases, changes to the agreement would effect changes to the returns that the investor receives on its investment, so that consent rights are necessary prevent amendments that could deprive the investor of the value of its investment. The same rationale applies to material tax elections by Neptune. The election of a certain tax treatment can have financial implications for the investors over the life of Neptune's asset, and the requirement for Regular Member approval of this type of action protects the Regular Members' investment.

Regular Member consent is required for the adoption of any annual budget or amendment to the annual budget that is inconsistent with the business plan. In SW Acquisition, the Staff approved a provision for limited partner approval of any changes in the aggregate greater than 15% to the business and annual operating budget. Also, in Evercore, limited partner approval was required for adoption of any annual budget inconsistent with the business plan, subject to the requirement that such approval not be unreasonably withheld. Further, in k1 Ventures, regular member approval was required for changes to the annual business plan or the operating budget of 15% or more in the aggregate. The limited liability company agreement in k1 Ventures required non-managing member approval of capital expenditures that vary from the budget by $750,000 or more.

The Neptune LLC Agreement case provides that approval by the Regular Members is required for the making of any expenditure exceeding the budgeted amount by an amount greater than the lesser of $500,000 per event or series of related events and 5% of the budgeted amount, except for expenditures incurred in emergencies or mandated by a governmental authority.

The above-described provisions are the only ones that differ in any material respect from the consent rights that have been included in several of the no-action letters referenced above.¹⁰

The determination of whether a party has a "controlling influence" is a judgment to be made by the Commission based on the facts of a particular case. In the past, the Commission has relied on the following facts and circumstances in making its determination: "(i) the terms and provisions of the securities that create the relationship, (ii) whether there are agreements between those with voting control and others who have invested in the company, (iii) any past or present business relationship between the entities with voting control and the company and (iv) the nature of the parties involved, including whether there is capable, independent and financially interested management to operate the public utility and holding company." Berkshire Hathaway. Inc.

As shown above, the consent rights to be held by the Regular Members are consistent with the rights granted to other similar investors that have received no-action letter assurances. The Regular Members have no ability to control the management or day-to-day operations of Neptune, and as described above, the LLC Agreement provides that the Manager (the managing Member) has the exclusive right to control the business of the Partnership. The Regular Members are passive investors with merely an economic interest in Neptune. The consent rights, which are similar to the consent rights retained by classes of debt holders, are necessary to help protect such investors from extraordinary events outside of the ordinary course (such as the sale of a material portion of assets, or an issuance of securities in parity or senior to the interests of the preferred stock) that might adversely affect the rights or preferences of such investors. Similarly, the right to remove the Manager under the circumstances specified above is similar to the removal rights that the Staff has approved in Evercore, k1 Ventures and GE Capital.

Moreover, that consent of a super-majority of the Class C Members is required for some of the above-described actions, and unanimous consent of the Class C Members is required for other such actions does not alter the conclusion that these Members do not exercise a controlling influence over Neptune. On several occasions the Staff has issued no-action letters in response to requests by limited partners with significant consent rights, irrespective of the fact that the consent of a single limited partner (as opposed to a group of unrelated partners) was necessary to approve the applicable events covered by such consent rights. See e.g., Nevada Sun-Peak (consent of single limited partner required for extensive list of "major business decisions"); Dominion Resources, Inc. (Jan. 21, 1988) (consent of single limited partner required for specified "major events"); accord, Berkshire Hathaway, Inc. (consent of corporation holding preferred shares required for specified actions; and GE Capital (consent of single limited partner required for certain transactions that might materially affect the limited partner's investment in the partnership). The requirement for unanimous consent for certain actions of Neptune is analogous to consent rights granted to a single partner; accordingly, consistent with the above-cited no-action letters, it does not result in a single Class C Member exerting a controlling influence. Similarly, that consent requires approval of a super-majority or a majority of the Class C Members does not affect the independence of Neptune.

Other characteristics of the business and financing of the Cable Project help to protect against any abuses under the Act and thus the Commission would have no basis to conclude that regulation of the Regular Members under the Act is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers. Neptune will be privately held. The Applicants are sophisticated parties that have been well informed as to the nature of their investment. Neptune will be subject to regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act, as well as certain state regulation as to siting and safety issues by the New York and New Jersey commissions. FERC's regulation of Neptune includes regulation of its transmission service through FERC's jurisdiction over Neptune's open access transmission tariff and the sale of transmission services. In addition, FERC has detailed rules and regulations to protect against affiliate abuses and other potential causes of unjust, unreasonable or discriminatory rates to transmission customers. With respect to rates, the FTCFA fixes rates over a twenty year term.¹¹ Further, FERC has required the transfer of operational control over Neptune's transmission facilities to either PJM or the New York Independent System Operation. That requirement complies with FERC's explicit goal of promoting the independent ownership of transmission facilities.

For these reasons, the Commission should find that the Regular Members, and the Class B Members if the identified internal rates of return of the Class C Members are met, do not exercise a controlling influence over the management or policies of Neptune as to make it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers that the Regular Members and the Class B Members be subject to regulation under the Act.

3.3 The Commission is Authorized to Issue a Declaratory Order in this Proceeding

Applicants wish to clarify the statutory basis of the procedural aspects of their request. Section 2(a)(7) of the Act provides procedures for issuing declaratory orders relating holding company status, but these do not address the specific situation in which the Applicants find themselves. That section defines a "holding company" as:

(A) any company which directly or indirectly owns, controls, or holds with power to vote, 10 per centum or more of the outstanding voting securities of a public-utility company or of a holding company which is a holding company by virtue of this clause or clause (B), unless the Commission, as hereinafter provided, by order declares such company not to be a holding company; and

(B) any person which the Commission determines, after notice and an opportunity for hearing, directly or indirectly, to exercise (either alone or pursuant to an arrangement or understanding with one or more other persons) such a controlling influence over the management or policies of any public-utility or holding company as to make it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers that the applicant be subject to the obligations, duties, and liabilities imposed in this title upon holding companies.

As explained above, neither the Regular Members nor Atlantic will directly or indirectly, own, control or hold with the power to vote 10% or more of the "voting securities" of a public utility company or of a holding company, as the term "voting security" is defined in Section 2(a)(17) of the Act. In short, they will not fall within the definition of a "holding company" set forth in Section 2(a)(7)(A) of the Act, or, stated differently for present purposes, the facts necessary to establish a prima facie case for the existence of a holding company will not exist. As also explained above, the Regular Members and Atlantic will not exercise an impermissible controlling influence over the management or policies of Neptune LLC. Therefore, there will be no reason for the Commission to exercise its discretionary powers under Section 2(a)(7)(B) of the Act to find an entity to be a holding company in the absence of the facts necessary to support a prima facie case.

But while Section 2(a)(7) the Act contains procedures for finding an entity not to be a holding company where a prima facie case of holding company status exists, and procedures for finding a company to be a holding company where a prima facie case does not exist, it does not explicitly establish procedures for finding a company not to be a holding company where no prima facie case exists. The absence of such a procedure is not surprising. When Congress originally passed the Act, the issues it faced were created by complex existing holding companies. The Commission's fundamental task in its early administration of the Act was to implement a process through which those companies would be brought into compliance with the requirements of Section 11 of the Act. Under these pressing circumstances, the critical threshold question was who was a holding company, not who was not. To the extent the latter issue had practical significance, it was largely with respect to prima facie holding companies that had divested some, but not all, of their jurisdictional interests. In any event, the entire focus was on industry incumbents, not new entrants such as the Applicants.¹²

Through the Commission's efforts, the initial crisis the Act was intended to address has long since been stabilized, and a well-developed pattern of regulation has been established. Under these circumstances, the question of who is not a holding company is frequently more pressing than the question of who is a holding company. The Commission has broad powers, in particular under Section 2(a)(7)(B) to find parties to be holding companies where a prima facie case of holding company status does not exist. Regulation under the Act can have far reaching consequences, and uncertainty about whether a transaction might cause a party to become a holding company can create a significant disincentive to undertaking that transaction. This, in turn, can have far-reaching adverse consequences for the utility industry and consumers by discouraging investment. In short, even though not provided for explicitly in Section 2(a)(7) of the Act, there frequently is a pressing need for the type of relief the Applicants are requesting.

The Commission has acknowledged repeatedly over many years the legitimacy of such requests, as evidenced by the no-action letters cited elsewhere in this Application. In most cases, the uncertainty in question involves the issue of whether a specific interest constitutes a voting security, as defined in Section 2(a)(17) of the Act. As a result, the Commission has, in a long series of no-action letters, developed a relatively comprehensive set of standards for assessing this issue. However, the Commission has at its disposal other means for making such determinations. Applicants submit that Section 20 of the Act permits the Commission to issue the type of declaratory order sought here. As discussed below, this view is supported by the practice of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") of issuing declaratory orders with regard to analogous issues using statutory language that is virtually identical to that found in Section 20 of the Act. In addition, the declaratory order provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"), as applied by many federal agencies, provides a second procedural basis for the relief Applicants seek.

Section 309 of the Federal Power Act ("FPA") grants FERC the power to, among other things, "prescribe, issue, make, amend, and rescind such orders, rules, and regulations as it may find necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this Act."¹³ Section 20 of the Act provides that the Commission has the authority, among other things, "to make, issue, amend, and rescind such rules and regulations and such orders as it may deem necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this title. . . ." In short, each statute contains essentially the same provisions on this point. It is worth noting that the Act and the FPA are each titles of a larger statute, the Public Utility Act of 1935. It is therefore not surprising that they contain parallel language at various points, and their close relationship suggests that similar meaning should be given to such language where appropriate. Applicants suggest that it is appropriate to do so in this case.

Situations similar to that faced by the Applicants arise frequently under the FPA. In particular, entities that will have ownership interests in utility assets in sale/leaseback or other essentially financing transactions frequently need assurances that they will not be subject to regulation as public utilities under the FPA. Section 201(e) of the FPA defines a "public utility" as "any person who owns or operates facilities" subject to FERC's jurisdiction under Part II of the FPA. Such facilities include any facilities used for the transmission of electric power for sale at wholesale in interstate commerce, including most interconnection facilities found at most generating facilities. Companies such as facility lessors and other passive owners are therefore potentially subject to regulation as public utilities under the FPA, and the FPA does provide specific procedures for determining that such parties are not public utilities. Uncertainty as to potential exposure to regulation under the FPA can be a disincentive to investment in precisely the same way as potential exposure to regulation under the Act.

FERC has acknowledged this problem and has resorted to general authority under the FPA and the APA to issue numerous declaratory orders in such situations disclaiming jurisdiction over parties as public utilities under Section 201(e) of the FPA. FERC has concluded that Section 309 of the FPA provides sufficient authority for such actions.¹⁴ In most cases these orders are issued in informal adjudications that do not involve trial-type hearings.¹⁵ In short, a major federal agency has used language that parallels Section 20 of the Act to issue declaratory orders, using procedures similar to those applicable in this case, to remove uncertainty of the same type that the Applicants face. All of this confirms that Section 20 of the Act establishes a basis for granting the relief Applicants seek.

Section 5(e) of the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. Section 554(e), provides a second, independent basis for such relief.¹⁶ It provides that an agency "with like effect as in the case of other orders, and in its sound discretion, may issue a declaratory order to terminate a controversy or remove uncertainty." The Commission has relied on this provision previously.¹⁷ In Pacific Northwest, the Commission issued a declaratory order determining that a company engaged in the development of utility assets, in the form of a hydro electric dam, would not be deemed to be an electric utility company under Section 2(a)(3) of the Act prior to the time the Federal Power Commission issued the necessary hydroelectric facility license under the FPA. The Commission's Division of Corporate Regulation had urged an interpretation of the scope of Section 2(a)(3) that would have covered companies developing electric utility assets, rather than simply assets "in place" and "used" for the purpose of making sales, as normally understood in light of the provisions of Sections 2(a)(18) and 2(a)(3), respectively. For the purpose of removing this uncertainty, the Commission issued a declaratory order determining that the company would not be an electric utility company under the Act during development, at least until the time the necessary Federal Power Commission license had been issued.

It should be noted in this connection that while Section 2(a)(3) creates certain procedures for the issuance of declaratory orders determining a company not to be an electric utility company under the Act, none of those procedures covered the situation presented in Pacific Northwest.¹⁸ In the absence of such procedures, the Commission concluded that Section 5(e) of the APA provided an appropriate means of removing uncertainty that otherwise could adversely affect the development of necessary facilities.

Finally, the APA permits the Commission to issue declaratory orders in a wide range of procedural contexts. Although the APA's declaratory provisions are found in the section dealing with formal adjudications, it is well established that use of declaratory orders is not limited to formal trial-type hearings. Such proceedings constitute only a small portion of the contemporary work of the federal government, and it is likely that most declaratory orders appear in informal adjudications such as the present one where there is notice and an opportunity for comment. The courts have on numerous occasions acknowledged the appropriateness of issuing declaratory orders in such proceedings.¹⁹

In short, the Commission has ample authority to issue a declaratory order of the type requested using the Commission's normal procedures for issuing orders under the Act.

¹⁹ See, e.g., American Airlines, Inc., v. Dep't of Transp., 202 F.3d 788, 796-97 (5th Cir. 2000) (holding that a declaratory order issued in an informal adjudication satisfied the standards of Section 5(e) of the APA where there was notice and an opportunity to submit comments); Texas v. United States, 866 F.2d 1546, 1555 (5th Cir. 1989) (holding that declaratory order proceedings under Section 5(e) of the APA do not need to include a right to present oral evidence or to cross examine opposing witnesses).

3.4 Request for Relief

For the reasons described herein, the Commission should find that none of the Applicants is a "holding company" within the meaning of Section 2(a)(7)(A) of the Act because the Applicants will not directly or indirectly, own, control or hold with the power to vote 10% or more of the "voting securities" of a public-utility company or of a holding company, as the term "voting securities" is defined in Section 2(a)(17) of the Act. In addition, the Commission should hold that none of the Applicants will exercise an impermissible controlling influence over the management or policies of Neptune LLC to warrant regulation under Section 2(a)(7)(B) of the Act.

A Member shall not be entitled to the withdrawal or return of any part of its Capital Contribution or any amount standing to its credit in its Capital Account or to receive any Distributions from the Company or any consideration for the fair market value of its Interest, except as specifically provided in this Agreement. No Member shall receive any interest with respect to the balance of its Capital Account.

ARTICLE V

5.1 Distributions Generally. Except as provided in Section 4.5 and Section 11.2(b) hereof, the Manager shall cause the Company to make, pursuant to Section 5.2 hereof, Distributions of Cash Available for Distribution to the Members on at least a semi-annual basis, or a quarterly basis if permitted under the Credit Facilities, on and after the Commercial Operation Date beginning on the first date that the Manager shall determine that the Company has Cash Available for Distribution. ARTICLE VI

ALLOCATIONS

6.1 Company Allocations.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Section 6.1 or elsewhere in this Agreement, for purposes of this Agreement, and for federal, state and local income tax purposes, all items of Profits and Losses shall be determined with respect to each Fiscal Year as of the end thereof, and allocated to the Members as follows and in the following order of priority:

(i) Profits shall be allocated as follows:

(A) first, among the Members to the extent of the respective excess, if any, of (x) the cumulative Losses previously allocated to a Member pursuant to Section 6.1(a)(ii)(C) hereof over (y) the cumulative Profits previously allocated to such Member pursuant to this Section 6.1(a)(i)(A), such allocation to be made using the relevant Allocation Percentages (beginning with the Final Period Allocation Percentages and proceeding in reverse order to the extent each set of Allocation Percentages was previously used) so as to reverse such Section 6.1(a)(ii)(C) allocation;

(B) second, among the Members to the extent of and in proportion to the respective excess, if any, of (x) the cumulative Losses previously allocated to a Member pursuant to Section 6.1(a)(ii)(B) hereof over (y) the cumulative Profits previously allocated to such Member pursuant to this Section 6.1(a)(i)(B);

(C) third, among the Members to the extent of and in proportion to the respective excess, if any, of (x) the cumulative Losses previously allocated to a Member pursuant to Section 6.1(a)(ii)(A) hereof over (y) the cumulative Profits previously allocated to such Member pursuant to this Section 6.1(a)(i)(C);

(D) fourth, Profits shall be allocated to the Members so as to cause the balance in each Member's Capital Account (computed after giving effect to all Capital Contributions, Distributions, allocations and other Capital Account adjustments for all taxable years) to equal, to the maximum extent possible, the Distributions to be made to such Member pursuant to Section 11.2(b) hereof, assuming the Company sold all of its assets, if any, for the Gross Asset Value of such assets as used in determining the then applicable Capital Accounts under Section 704(b) of the Code; and

(ii) Losses shall be allocated as follows:

(A) first, pro rata to the Members in an amount so as to cause the balance in each Member's Capital Account (computed after giving effect to all Capital Contributions, Distributions, allocations and other Capital Account adjustments for all taxable years) to equal, to the maximum extent possible, the Distributions to be made to such Member pursuant to Section 11.2(b) hereof, assuming the Company sold all of its assets, if any, for the Gross Asset Value of such assets as used in determining the then applicable Capital Accounts under Section 704(b) of the Code;

(B) second, pro rata to the Class A Members, Class A-1 Members, Class B Members and Class C Members until the balance of their Capital Accounts are equal to zero;

(C) thereafter, pro rata to the Class A Members, the Class A-1 Members, the Class B Members and the Class C Members in accordance with their respective Allocation Percentages.

(b) In the event of a sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company or liquidation or dissolution of the Company, Profits and Losses (and, to the extent necessary, or as otherwise provided in this Agreement, individual items of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit) shall be allocated among the Members so as to cause the balance in such Member's Capital Account to equal the Distributions to be made to such Member pursuant to Section 11.2(b) hereof.

(c) Notwithstanding Section 6.1(a) hereof:

(i) Minimum Gain and Hypothetical Capital Accounts. For purposes of complying with Treasury Regulations relating to tax allocation, the Company's "minimum gain", "minimum gain attributable to Member nonrecourse debt" and the Members' hypothetically adjusted Capital Accounts ("Hypothetical Capital Accounts”) must be determined from time to time. The amount of minimum gain or minimum gain attributable to Member nonrecourse debt is determined in accordance with Treas. Reg. §1.704-2(d) or §1.704-2(i), as the case may be, by computing, with respect to each nonrecourse liability of the Company, the amount of gain (of whatever character), if any, that would be realized by the Company if it disposed of (in a taxable transaction) the Company property subject to such liability in full satisfaction thereof, and by then aggregating the amounts so computed. A Member’s Hypothetical Capital Account shall equal its true Capital Account, increased by any amount that such Member is treated as being obligated to restore under Treas. Reg. §1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(c) (including the Member’s share of minimum gain, computed as provided in Treas. Reg. §1.704-2(g), and of minimum gain attributable to Member nonrecourse debt, computed as provided in Treas. Reg. §1.704-2(i)(5)), and decreased by the items described in Treas. Reg. §1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d), clauses (4), (5) and (6). For purposes of determining each Member’s share of minimum gain or minimum gain attributable to Member nonrecourse debt, any Distributions funded with the proceeds of nonrecourse liabilities shall be treated as allocable to the nonrecourse liabilities, if any, that were incurred by the Company in connection with such distributions;

(ii) Qualified Income Offset. A Member who unexpectedly receives an adjustment, allocation or Distribution described in Treas. Reg. §1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d), clauses (4), (5) and (6), that creates a deficit in its Hypothetical Capital Account shall be allocated items of income and gain (consisting of a pro rata portion of each item of Company income, including gross income, and gain for such year) in an amount and manner sufficient to eliminate such deficit as quickly as possible;

(iii) Gross Income Allocation. In the event any Member has a deficit Capital Account at the end of any Fiscal Year which is in excess of the amount such Member is deemed to be obligated to restore pursuant to any provision of this Agreement and the penultimate sentences of Treas. Reg. §1.704-2(g)(1) and 1.704-2(i)(5), each such Member shall be specially allocated items of income and gain in the amount of such excess as quickly as possible, provided that an allocation pursuant to this Section 6.1(c)(iii) shall be made only if and to the extent that such Member would have a deficit Capital Account in excess of such sum after all other allocations provided for in this Article VI have been made as if Section 6.1(c)(ii) hereof and this Section 6.1(c)(iii) were not in this Agreement; and

(iv) Minimum Gain Chargeback. If there is a net decrease in the Company’s minimum gain or minimum gain attributable to Member nonrecourse debt during a Company taxable year, any Member with a share of such minimum gain at the beginning of such year shall be allocated, before any other allocation is made of Company items for such taxable year, items of income and gain for such year (and, if necessary, subsequent years) in proportion to, and to the extent of, such Member's share of such decrease in minimum gain in accordance with Treas. Reg. §1.704-2(f) and §1.704-2(i) (the "Minimum Gain Chargeback"). The Minimum Gain Chargeback allocated in any taxable year shall consist first of gains recognized from the disposition of items of Company property subject to one or more nonrecourse liabilities of the Company to the extent of the decrease in Minimum Gain Chargeback attributable to the disposition of such items of property, with the remainder of the Minimum Gain Chargeback, if any, made up of a pro rata portion of the Company's other items of income and gain for that year.

(d) No loss or deduction shall be allocated to a Member to the extent that such allocation would reduce such Member's Hypothetical Capital Account below zero, and such loss or deduction shall instead be allocated to the other Members in proportion to the positive balances of their respective Hypothetical Capital Accounts.

(e) If any items of income, gain, loss or deduction shall be specially allocated pursuant to Section 6.1(c)(ii), Section 6.1(c)(iii), Section 6.1(c)(iv) or Section 6.1(d) hereof, then as quickly as possible thereafter (but not in such a manner as to create or increase a deficit in any Member's Hypothetical Capital Account) items of income, gain, loss or deduction shall be specially allocated to the Members so as to return all Capital Accounts to such balances as they would have had if no such special allocations had been made pursuant to Section 6.1(c)(ii), Section 6.1(c)(iii), Section 6.1(c)(iv) or Section 6.1(d) hereof.

(f) This Section 6.1 is intended to satisfy the rules of Treas. Reg. §1.704-1(b) and the rules for allocations attributable to nonrecourse liabilities set forth in Treas. Reg. §1.704-2 and should be so construed.

6.2 Tax Allocations; Code Section 704(c).

(a) For income tax purposes only, each item of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit of the Company shall be allocated among the Members in the same manner as the corresponding items of Profits and Losses and specially allocated items are allocated for Capital Account purposes.

(b) In accordance with Section 704(c) of the Code and the Treasury Regulations thereunder, income, gain, loss, and deduction with respect to any property contributed to the capital of the Company shall, solely for tax purposes, be allocated among the Members so as to take account of any variation between the adjusted basis of such property to the Company for federal income tax purposes and its initial Gross Asset Value.

(c) In the event the Gross Asset Value of any asset of the Company shall be adjusted pursuant to the provisions of this Agreement, subsequent allocations of income, gain, loss and deduction with respect to such asset shall take account of any variation between the adjusted basis of such asset for federal income tax purposes and its Gross Asset Value in the same manner as under Section 704(c) of the Code and the Treasury Regulations thereunder.

(d) Any elections or other decisions relating to such Section 704(c) allocations made pursuant to Section 6.2(b) hereof and “reverse Section 704(c) allocations” made pursuant to Section 6.2(c) hereof shall be agreed by the Class A Members, the Class A-1 Members, the Class B Members and the Class C Members in any manner that reasonably reflects the purpose and intention of this Agreement. Unless otherwise agreed by the Class A Members, the Class A-1 Members, the Class B Members and the Class C Members, the Company shall use the “traditional allocation method” for such allocations, in accordance with Treas. Reg. §1.704-3(b). Section 704(c) allocations pursuant to this Section 6.2 are solely for purposes of federal, state and local taxes and shall not affect, or in any way be taken into account in computing, any Member’s Capital Account or share of Profits, Losses, other items or distributions pursuant to any provision of this Agreement.

6.3 Accounting Method. The books of the Company (for both tax and financial reporting purposes) shall be kept on an accrual basis.

(a) Withholding. All amounts withheld pursuant to the Code or any provision of any state, local or foreign tax law with respect to any payment, distribution or allocation to the Members shall be treated as amounts paid or distributed, as the case may be, to the Members with respect to which such amount was withheld pursuant to this Section 6.3 for all purposes under this Agreement. The Company is authorized to withhold from payments and Distributions, or with respect to allocations to the Members, and to pay over to any federal, state and local government or any foreign government, any amounts required to be so withheld pursuant to the Code or any provisions of any other federal, state or local law or any foreign law, and shall allocate any such amounts to the Members with respect to which such amount was withheld.

The withholdings referred to in this Section 6.3 shall be made at the maximum applicable statutory rate under the applicable tax law unless the Manager receives documentation, satisfactory to the Manager, to the effect that a lower rate is applicable, or that no withholding is applicable.

6.4 Allocations Relating to Last Fiscal Year. It is the intent of the Members that the allocations provided in this Article VI result in the distributions required pursuant to Section 11.2(b) being in accordance with positive capital accounts as provided for in Treasury Regulations under Section 704(b) of the Code. If upon the dissolution and termination of the Company pursuant to Article XI of this Agreement, and after giving hypothetical effect to the allocations required by Article VI, the Capital Accounts of the Members are in such ratios or balances that distributions pursuant to Section 11.2(b) would not be in accordance with the positive Capital Accounts of the Members, such failure shall not affect or alter the distributions required by Section 11.2(b). Rather, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of the Company for the Fiscal Year in which the Company dissolves and terminates pursuant to Article XI shall be allocated among the Members in a manner that, to the maximum extent possible, will result in the Capital Accounts of each Member having a balance prior to the distribution equal to the amount of the distributions to be received by each Member pursuant to Section 11.2(b). The Manager may apply the principles of this Section 6.4 to any Fiscal Year preceding the Fiscal Year in which the Company dissolves and terminates if delaying the application of the principles of this Section 6.4 would likely result in distributions pursuant to Section 11.2(b) not being in accordance with the positive Capital Account balances of the Members.

ARTICLE VII

(a) Newco shall be the “Manager” of the Company within the meaning of the Act, and shall provide adequate resources to fulfill its management responsibilities. (b) In the event that the Manager shall have the right to terminate the Management Services Agreement pursuant to Section 8.2(b) thereof, then the Manager may by written notice to the Majority Class C Members withdraw as the Manager hereunder, such withdrawal to be effective five (5) Business Days after receipt by the Majority Class C Members of such notice.

7.11 Exculpation and Indemnification.

(a) No Member (including the Manager, in such capacity) nor any of its Affiliates nor any of their respective current or former Members, members, shareholders (or other Equity Security holders), officers, directors, employees, consultants, agents or representatives (each an “Indemnified Party” and, collectively, the “Indemnified Parties”) shall be liable, in damages or otherwise, to the Company or to any of the Members for any act or omission performed or omitted by such Indemnified Party in connection with the conduct of affairs of the Company or otherwise incurred in connection with the Company or this Agreement or the matters contemplated herein; provided, that no indemnification shall be granted to any Indemnified Party, that is not an individual, for

(i) any act or omission of such Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee resulting from such Person's own fraud, criminal or willful misconduct, gross negligence or bad faith,

(ii) any breach by such Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee of any of the terms and provisions of this Agreement, or

(iii) any breach by an Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee of any contract with the Company;

and provided further, that no indemnification shall be granted to any Indemnified Party that is an individual for any act or omission of such Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee resulting from such individual's own fraud or criminal or willful misconduct.

(b) The Company shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless, to the fullest extent permitted by law, the Indemnified Parties, from and against any loss, damage, expense, claim or liability of any kind or nature whatsoever that such Indemnified Party may at any time become subject to or liable for any reason arising out of this Agreement or in connection with the conduct of the affairs of the Company; provided, that no Indemnified Party that is not an individual shall be entitled to indemnification if and to the extent that the liability otherwise to be indemnified for results from

(i) any act or omission of such Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee resulting from such Person's own fraud, criminal or willful misconduct, gross negligence or bad faith,

(ii) any breach by such Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee of any of the terms and provisions of this Agreement, or

(iii) any breach by an Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee of any contract with the Company;

and provided further, that no indemnification shall be granted to any Indemnified Party that is an individual for any act or omission of such Indemnified Party or any Related Indemnatee resulting from such individual's own fraud or criminal or willful misconduct.

(c) Expenses (including reasonable legal fees) incurred by an Indemnified Party in defense or settlement of any claim or liability that may be subject to a right of indemnification hereunder shall be reimbursed by the Company upon the final disposition of any such proceeding and, thereafter, upon receipt of a written request from such Indemnified Party requesting reimbursement of such amount, if it has been determined by a court of competent jurisdiction that the Indemnified Party is entitled to be indemnified hereunder.

(d) The right of any Indemnified Party to the indemnification provided herein shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights to which such Indemnified Party may otherwise be entitled by contract or as a matter of law or equity and shall extend to such Indemnified Party's successors, assigns and legal representatives.

(e) If the Company, the Manager, any Member or any Affiliate of a Member or the Company is required by law to make any payment on behalf of a Member (including without limitation federal or foreign withholding taxes), then the Company (if permitted to without incurring any penalties) shall notify such Member of such obligation and such Member shall have the opportunity to make such payment on its own behalf. If such Member fails, or is not otherwise able, to make such payment on its own behalf and the Company, Member or such Affiliate makes any such payment on behalf of the Member, such Member shall reimburse, indemnify and hold harmless the Company, the Manager, the other Members, each such Affiliate and each of their respective officers, directors, employees, stockholders, members and agents (each of which shall be a third-party beneficiary of this Agreement solely for purposes of this Section 7.11(e)) for the entire amount of such payment (including interest and penalties thereon and expenses related thereto). Distributions or payments to which a Member is otherwise entitled to pursuant to Article V or Article XI hereof may be offset against such Member's obligation to reimburse and indemnify a party pursuant to this Section 7.11(e). A Member's obligation under this Section 7.11(e) shall bear interest commencing with the date such obligation arises, at an annual rate equal to the lesser of the maximum amount permitted by law and the per annum rate of interest reported on the date such obligation arises by The Wall Street Journal as the six (6) month London Interbank Offered Rate plus five-hundred (500) basis points.

(f) The Company and the Manager shall maintain insurance in customary amounts and against customary risks as reasonably determined from time to time by the Manager.

(g) The indemnities provided hereunder shall survive termination of the Company and this Agreement. The provisions of this Section 7.11 for the indemnification of Persons other than Members may be relied upon by such Persons and may be enforced as if such Persons were parties hereto and, to this extent, the Manager shall be deemed to hold the benefit of such indemnity on behalf of each Indemnified Party and shall use its reasonable endeavors to assist such Person in bringing proceedings in respect of a claim under this Section 7.11.

(h) Neither the Manager nor any Member shall be liable to the Company or to another Member for any consequential or punitive damages.

(i) Notwithstanding the foregoing, no Affiliate of a Member (including of the Manager, in such capacity) nor any of the respective current or former members, shareholders (or other Equity Security holders), officers, directors or employees of a Member or of an Affiliate of a Member shall be personally liable for any payments due from a Member hereunder or any obligations to be performed by a Member hereunder, except as expressly provided herein or in any other agreement to which such Person is a party. (ii) no registration is required because of the availability of an exemption from registration under the Securities Act and all applicable state securities or “blue sky” laws.

(g) No Transfers will be permitted if such Transfer would result in the imposition of a transfer tax on any other Member, or result in a termination of the Company pursuant to the provisions of Code Section 708(b) (or any other comparable provision of state, local, foreign tax law), unless such transfer tax or other consequences of such tax termination are indemnified against by the transferring Member or its transferee in a manner reasonably acceptable to each non-transferring Member; provided that the Members shall cooperate in good faith at the request of the transferor Member, to structure such Transfer in a manner that does not give rise to any such transfer tax or tax termination.

Any arbitration proceeding, decision or award rendered hereunder and the validity, effect and interpretation of this arbitration agreement shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act, 9 U.S.C. § 1 et seq. The award shall be in writing and shall state the findings of fact and conclusions of law on which it is based. The award shall be final and binding upon the parties and shall be the sole and exclusive remedy between the parties regarding any claims, counterclaims, issues or accounting presented to the arbitral tribunal. Judgment upon the award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction. By agreeing to arbitration, the parties do not intend to deprive any court of its jurisdiction to issue a pre-arbitral injunction, pre-arbitral attachment, or other order in aid of arbitration proceedings and the enforcement of any award. Without prejudice to such provisional remedies as may be available under the jurisdiction of a court, the arbitral tribunal shall have full authority to grant provisional remedies and to direct the parties to request that any court modify or vacate any temporary or preliminary relief issued by such court, and to award damages for the failure of any party to respect the arbitral tribunal's orders to that effect. The parties hereby submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal and state courts located in New York, New York or in Wilmington, Delaware for the purpose of an order to compel arbitration, for preliminary relief in aid of arbitration or for a preliminary injunction to maintain the status quo or prevent irreparable harm prior to the appointment of the arbitrators, and to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the aforementioned courts for the enforcement of any award issued hereunder, and waive any right to stay or dismiss any such actions or proceedings brought before any such court on the basis of forum non conveniens or improper venue.

(b) The pendency of these dispute resolution procedures shall not in and of themselves relieve any party from its duty to perform under this Agreement. Each party shall continue to perform all of its obligations under this Agreement during the pendency of these dispute resolution procedures, and to the extent any claimed breach or termination of this Agreement or any claimed removal of the Manager or forfeiture of any vested or unvested Class A Member Interest or Special Distribution is disputed in good faith by a party, such breach, termination, removal or forfeiture shall not be effective between the parties unless and until the arbitral tribunal has issued its award with respect to such Dispute, provided, that, if the arbitral tribunal shall find in such award in favor of the Member claiming forfeiture of any vested or unvested Class A Member Interests or Special Distribution, then such forfeiture shall be deemed to have occurred at the time provided therefor under this Agreement (and not upon issuance of the final award); provided, further, that, upon the request of any Class C Member party to a Dispute that may result in a forfeiture of any vested or unvested Class A Member Interests or Special Distribution, the Company shall place any amount constituting Distributions in respect of the portion of the Class A Member Interests or Special Distribution subject to potential forfeiture in escrow with a neutral party mutually agreed to by the parties to the Dispute pending the award of the arbitral tribunal, and upon the issuance of such award any of such escrowed amounts not held to be forfeited shall be paid to the applicable Class A Member and such amounts forfeited shall be paid to the other Members on the basis of the applicable Allocation Percentages (as adjusted to give effect to such forfeiture).

15.12 Specific Performance. The parties acknowledge and agree that the failure of any Party to perform its obligations in accordance with the terms of this Agreement would result in damage to the other parties that could not be adequately compensated by a monetary award. Without limitation of the remedies of any party, the parties agree that if a party fails to timely perform its obligations under the terms of this Agreement, the other parties may seek an order pursuant to Section 15.11 from an arbitral tribunal requiring specific performance of such covenant.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this Agreement on this ____ day of _____, 2005.

Exhibit G-3

OWNERSHIP STRUCTURE¹

(a) Fundamental Ownership Issues

The holders of Class C Interests, as passive investors, must have assurance that their economic interest in Neptune will not be diluted or otherwise impaired. Similarly, the ability to incur excessive debt has the potential (certainly upon liquidation) to transfer the value of a company from its equity holders to its debt holders. Accordingly, the Regular Members' consent will be required for Neptune or to take the following actions:²

- (i) Any recapitalization, reorganization, reclassification, merger, consolidation, liquidation, dissolution or other winding up, spin-off, subdivision or other combination.
- (ii) The declaration, setting aside or payment of any dividend or other similar distribution (including a redemption or repurchase of capital) in respect of any class of Member Interests other than as provided in the LLC Agreement.

Consent for the foregoing types of transactions is necessary because each has the potential to effect a fundamental change on Neptune or to cause it to cease to exist as a company. The terms chosen cover broad categories of fundamental corporate actions.

Consent is required for these actions because distributions of capital can deprive an operating company of funds needed for operation, and can be unlawful if the company does not have sufficient retained earnings, and the holders of the Class C Interests therefore have a vested interest in insuring that distributions not be made unless appropriate.

² Certain of these actions require the consent of a majority of the Class C Members. Other actions require approval by a super-majority (more than 80%) or require unanimous consent. As discussed in the Form U-1, these distributions do not affect the independence of Neptune.

- (iii) The sale, issuance or redemption of Equity Securities that might affect the interest of, as relevant, any Class B Member Interests or Class C Member Interests.

- (iv) Any effectuation of a public offering, private sale or other change of control of the Company (other than financing activities otherwise approved in the LLC Agreement).

Consent is required here because transactions involving the equity securities of Neptune have the potential to alter the Regular Members' right as holders of the Class C Interests and to receive the residual benefit of the operation of Neptune, which is the entire reason for the investment.

- (v) Any issuance of Debt in the aggregate in excess of $10,000,000, or the purchase, cancellation, prepayment of, refinancing of, or other provision for, a complete or partial discharge in advance of a scheduled payment date with respect to, or waiver of any right under, any Debt in the aggregate amount described above of the Company or its Subsidiaries (whether for borrowed money or otherwise).

This consent right seeks to achieve a balance that allows Neptune access to debt financing, but prevents it from incurring large debts without consent from the holders of the Class C Interests. It is also intended to address material deviation from the subject company's debt service obligations which could occur, for example, if a company were to pay down debt rather than making necessary capital expenditures, with a resulting significant adverse effect on the company's performance and therefore the value of the Class C Interests.

(b) Fundamental Organizational Issues

As passive investors, the holders of the Class C Interests must have assurances that the nature of business in which they are investing will not be changed unilaterally by management. That investment in Neptune is predicated upon a certain set of assumptions as to the organization and business to be conducted thereby. The following consent rights are intended to address these concerns:

- (i) The entering into of any joint venture, partnership or other material operating alliance with any other Person.

Joint ventures, partnership, and other material operating alliances may have the potential to dramatically affect the nature of the business in which the holders of Class C Interests have chosen to invest, and therefore should not be undertaken without their consent.

- (ii) The commencement of any proceeding or filing of any petition seeking relief under Title 11 of the United States Code, as now constituted or hereafter amended, or any other federal or state bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership or similar law, the consenting to or acquiescing in the institution of, or failing to contest in a timely and appropriate manner, any such proceeding or filing; the applying for or consenting to the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian, sequestrator, conservator, or similar official; the filing of an answer admitting the material allegations of a petition filed against it in any such proceeding, the making of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, the admitting in writing of its inability, or the failure generally, to pay its debts as they become due, or the taking of any action for the purpose of effecting any of the foregoing.

Bankruptcy has the potential to eliminate the Regular Members' entire investment and therefore should not be undertaken without its consent.

- (iii) Any change in the principal nature of the business of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries.

The Regular Members have chosen to invest in Neptune based on an understanding of its planned business. Any change to that could fundamentally alter the investment and should not be undertaken without its consent.

- (iv) Any amendments to organizational documents of the Company (including the LLC Agreement) or any Subsidiary of the Company, so as to change the powers, preferences or rights of Members, or in a manner that would otherwise adversely affect the rights of Members.

Neptune's organizational documents define the nature of the entity in which the holders of the Class C Interests are investing and therefore should not be changed without their consent.

(c) Major Operational Issues

Certain transactions or events undertaken or occurring in the operation of Neptune, due to their nature, size or timing, may have the potential to materially affect the economic interest of the passive investor. While management will have day-to-day control of the business and operations of the companies, the Regular Members, as the holders of the Class C Interests, must be able to protect their investment in the event that management seeks to engage in transactions of an extraordinary nature such as those addressed by the following consent rights:

- (i) Any material loans made by the Company or the provision of any material financial guarantees by the Company.

Neptune is not in the business of making loans, and such activity should be subject to heightened scrutiny as a deviation from its business model.

- (ii) The execution and delivery of any contracts or any amendments thereto that create or could reasonably be expected to create an obligation in an amount, whether payable at one time or in a series of payments, in excess of $500,000 other than in accordance with any then current Annual Budget.

Each year Neptune will go through an extensive budgeting process that will be the blueprint for business operations during the coming year. Anticipating operating expenditures is a main focus of the budgeting process. Once a budget is adopted, Neptune will run its businesses in accordance with the budget. A deviation of more than $500,000 from the budget for operating expenditures could signal a breakdown in the budgeting process, a change in Neptune's economic environment/business model, or possibly imprudent or excessive spending on the part of management. In any case, there exists the potential for a material adverse impact on the holders of the Class C Interests, who therefore need the right to prevent such behavior.

- (iii) Any sale, lease, exchange, transfer or other disposition of material assets or businesses of the Project or the Company or the Company's subsidiaries (including without limitation, the capital stock or membership interests of any Subsidiary) other than sales, leases, exchanges, transfers, or other dispositions in the ordinary course of business.

In the course of the day to day operations of the companies, disposition of assets in the ordinary course of business should be of no concern to the holders of the Class C Interests. In contrast, large or extraordinary dispositions of assets, businesses or stock, are highly unusual events that could diminish the value of the companies and therefore should not be undertaken without their consent.

- (iv) Any material tax elections by the Company and any tax election by the Company that would impair the treatment of the Company or NUR as a partnership or pass-through entity for tax purposes.

The election of tax treatment can have profound implications on the financial status and future of the Company and accordingly on the Regular Members' investment. Material tax elections are not a day-to-day activity of the Company. Also, the ability to obtain tax benefits is a fundamental aspect of the Class C Members' investment, and the loss of the ability to obtain those tax benefits would be a fundamental change to their investments.

- (v) The purchase, lease or other acquisition by the Company of any securities or assets of any other Person, except for acquisitions of products, supplies and equipment in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or acquisitions pursuant to the then current Annual Budget and the Business Plan.

The purchase of securities or assets outside of the ordinary course of business or not provided for in the Annual Budget and Business Plan are by definition extraordinary actions which could have significant effects on the Regular Members' investment.

- (vi) Any issuance of Debt in the aggregate in excess of $10,000,000, or the purchase, cancellation, prepayment of, refinancing of, or other provision for, a complete or partial discharge in advance of a scheduled payment date with respect to, or waiver of any right under, any Debt in the aggregate amount described above of the Company or its subsidiaries (whether for borrowed money or otherwise).

The Company is not in the business of issuing debt, and taking any of the above-listed actions in an amount in excess of $10 million could easily jeopardize the Regular Members' investment in Neptune. Accordingly, it is appropriate that their consent be obtained for these actions.

- (vii) Any affirmative grants of security interests or other encumbrances in the material assets of the Project or the Company.

The business of Neptune is entirely dependent upon the availability of its assets, the primary asset being the Cable Project. Granting security interests in or otherwise encumbering these assets could result in their not being available to the Company, which would deprive the Company of its ability to conduct business. Accordingly, this is an action that could fundamentally affect the Class C Members' investment and accordingly their consent should be required for any such action

- (viii) The making of any material change in accounting practices, except to the extent required by law or GAAP, or voluntarily changing or termination of the appointment of the Company's accountants as of the Effective Date.

A material change in Neptune's accounting practices, where such change is not required by law or GAAP, or the voluntary changing of the Company's accountants represents a change that is not part of day-to-day operations of the Company, and accordingly is an appropriate case for consent by the Regular Members.

- (ix) Any action that would give rise to a material default, or a right of acceleration of any material payment or termination, under any contracts that create or could reasonably be expected to create an obligation in an amount, whether payable at one time or in a series of payments, in excess of $500,000.

This provision complements the requirement for Regular Member approval of the Company's entering into contracts, create an obligation in excess of $500,000, other than in accordance with the then-current Annual Budget. Defaulting or giving rise to a right of acceleration of a material payment or termination would deprive the investors of the benefits of the contracts that establish the value of their investment, and it is appropriate that their approval be obtained prior to these actions taking place.

(x) Any material amendments or material change orders to the FTCPA or EPC Contract.

The construction of the Cable Project and the transmission services from which virtually all of the Company's revenues are derived are the basis for the investment in Neptune by the Regular Members. Material amendments to these contracts could significantly affect the value of the investment and therefore should not be permitted without the consent of the Regular Members.

(xi) Taking of any action that would give rise to a material default, or a right of acceleration of any material payment or termination, under the FTCPA or the EPC Contract.

Because of the fundamental importance of the EPC and FTCPA contracts to the Cable Project, it is necessary that defaults under these contracts not occur without consent of the Regular Members.

(xii) Any amendments or modifications to the definitions of Final Period, Final Period Allocation Percentages, Initial Period, Initial Period Allocation Percentages, Second Period, Second Period Allocation Percentages, Third Period or Third Period Allocation Percentages or to Section 5.3, 6.1 or 6.2 of the LLC Agreement.

These provisions establish the details of the returns on investment that the Regular Members can obtain, and it would be inappropriate for the Company to be in a position to change these provisions without the consent of the investors. Similarly, changes to Section 5.3, which addresses the vesting of interests, and Sections 6.1 and 6.2, which establish the allocation of Company profits and losses for tax purposes, are fundamental to the Regular Members' investment and should not be subject to modification without their consent.

(xiii) The adoption, entering into or becoming bound by, or the amendment, modification or termination of, any (a) employment contract with the executive officers of the Company, including any change in the compensation or terms of employment of such executive officers; or (b) any material employee benefit plan for employees of the Company.

The CEO, COO and CFO are the nucleus of the management team that will lead Neptune to success or to failure. As such, they have a profound impact on the economic well-being of Neptune and therefore the holders of the Class C Interests. These persons will make the day-to-day decisions that Neptune is not permitted to make. Nonetheless, the holders of the Class C Interests must be comfortable with the people making those decisions in order to feel comfortable that their investment is adequately protected.

- (xiv) Adopting any Annual Budget or amendment thereto that is inconsistent with the Business Plan or the making of any expenditure exceeding the aggregate budgeted amount in the Annual Budget by an amount greater than the lesser of $500,000 per event or series of related events (but not otherwise cumulatively) and an amount equal to five (5) % of such budgeted amount except expenditures reasonably incurred in connection with emergencies or mandates of any Governmental Authority.

The requirement that the Regular Member consent to the budgets adopted by management if that budget differs from the agreed upon Business Plan, or deviates from the Annual Budget by a material amount, is intended as a check on actions that would adversely affect the value of the Regular Members' investment. The same logic applies to amendments to the budget. Absent a consent right, the Regular Members would have limited recourse if management were simply to amend the budget to provide for whatever expenditure it then desired.

- (xv) The filing of any application to obtain, or any material amendment to, a material Project Permit, or any material filing in connection with the Company, Neptune Urban Renewal L.L.C. or the Project, or any material changes to the foregoing.

As a regulated entity, Neptune's governmental permits and approvals are essential to its business. Filings seeking material permits or material changes to Project permits can substantially affect the value of the Regular Members' investment, and a consent right is therefore appropriate.

- (xvi) The settlement of any claims, legal proceedings or arbitration on behalf of the Company that would materially adversely affect the Company or any of its Members or require the payment of more than $500,000 in the aggregate, or which include requests for injunction, specific performance or equitable relief and involve matters having a value in excess of $500,000 in the aggregate.

Significant litigation is not a matter of the day-to-day operation of a company, and can profoundly affect the return on or viability of a business. For this reason, the Regular Members, as the holders of the Class C Interests, should have a consent right with respect to any major litigation decisions.

(d) Interested Party Transactions

Certain events or transactions present a higher potential for self-dealing, and as a result, such transactions should only be undertaken if they are approved as being in the best interest of Neptune by the Regular Members:

- (i) The entering into of any transaction involving potential conflicts of interests between the Company and Newco or any Affiliate of Newco (including employees, members and directors of Newco) or with any Member (or their respective Affiliates) or the payment by the Company of any fees or other amounts to Newco (including employees, members and directors of Newco) or any Affiliate of Newco or to any Member or their respective Affiliates, or any material changes to any existing agreement for any such transactions; provided that if any such transaction involves a Class C Member (in a capacity other than as holder of Class C Member Interests), such Class C Member shall not be entitled to vote and the Class C Member Interests of such Class C Member shall be disregarded for the purpose of determining the aggregate percentage of Class C Member Interests voting on such matter.

(e) Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935

The ownership of Neptune has been structured to ensure that the Regular Members do not become subject to regulation as holding companies pursuant to the Act. Accordingly, it is reasonable to restrict the Manager from taking or failing to take any action involving:

- (i) Any action (or failure to act) by Newco, the Company or any of the Company's subsidiaries that would result in any other member of the Company or its Affiliates (other than Newco and the Company and their subsidiaries): (a) being subject to regulation as a "holding company" or a "subsidiary company" or an "affiliate" of a "holding company" or a "public-utility company" under PUHCA or (b) being subject to any other federal or state regulation that in the reasonable discretion Newco or of any such member of the Company or any such Affiliate would have an adverse effect on such member of the Company or any such Affiliate.

(f) Other

Finally, the companies should not commit to any course of action that would require Regular Member consent without first having obtained such consent. Accordingly, Regular Member consent is required for:

- (i) any contract, agreement, arrangement or commitment to do or engage in any of the foregoing.
